

I spend 8-10 hours of my day working for a living. If I want something I will go out and buy it. There are plenty of advertisements in the papers, on the radio, bill boards..... Leave me alone. If I want you I'll contact you. These call interrupt my rest time after work, my meals, my activities at home. I would like to not answer my phone but I do have family and want to be there if they need me. Caller ID isn't really useful unless you're sitting right next to it so I don't feel that this needs to be entertained as an option. PLEASE let me keep my DON'T CALL ME I'LL CALL YOU option in my life
